We Appreciate your Interest!

The National Hook-Up of Black Women, Inc. (NHBW) is a sisterhood of diverse Black women connected by a common commitment to better their lives and advance the wellbeing of women and their families across the country.

Since 1974, NHBW has been building a powerful communications network for millions of women to advance the wellbeing of women and their communities, share skills and knowledge, enable meaningful change in their professional and private lives, and build ties with women around the world. NHBW is also a group of women who give back to their communities through a national agenda of programs, activities, and innovative social events that uplift. Inspire, and advance the wellbeing of women and families from all walks-of-life.

Being an NHBW Member is a privilege for those who have pledged their commitment and support to the mission of the organization. This invitation is your call to join a sisterhood of like-minded women across the country advocating for change and a better life.
